DINING | THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Chefs Come and Go, but Good Tastes Linger

By ALICE GABRIEL

IN 2008, the Westchester dining scene witnessed something of a reverse migration...

...At Mima, a new vinoteca with a big heart, fluffy polenta was crowned with fava beans, crispy prosciutto, tiny tomatoes and tender buds of garlic; and deliciously brittle fritto misto came in a paper-lined wooden box. Again, the list of wines by the glass was inspired.
